EARTH LEAKAGE DEVICES

The Current policy on this issue is as follows:

Only Licensed Electricians Are To Reset Circuit Breakers Provided That:

- If electricians are not on a site only trained Safety Representative and a Management Representative are permitted to reset the circuit breakers by first isolating all leads from the particular board and then resetting the circuit breaker. The leads are then re-plugged one at a time.
- If the circuit breaker trips after the re-connection of a particular lead, that lead is to be isolated and removed from the board and the remaining leads checked accordingly.
- A licensed electrician should then be contacted to check the system.
